TALK OF THE TOWN

Tom Moore in "Who's Guilty" and Jackie Saunders in "The Grip of Evil" at the Bijou—adv.

Miss Cora Tarbox has returned to her home in Essex Junction, after passing several days with friends in Barre.

H. L. Gresson returned to his home in Lowell, Mass., last night, after spending the past two days in the city on business.

M. L. Lascor, who has been visiting friends on Beckley street during the past two weeks, left this morning for his home in Hartland.

Mayor Robert Gordon is detained at his home, 122 Orange street by a slight illness, the result of a severe cold contracted a few days ago.

Miss Josie Delano, who has been visiting friends on South Main street during the past two weeks, left this morning for her home in Concord, N. H.

Mrs. Everett Campbell of Hardwick is visiting friends and relatives in the city during the week. Mrs. Campbell will return to her home at a late date in the week.

Miss Elsie M. Maxson of York Beach, Me., arrived in the city last night and will visit at the home of her brother, John L. Maxson of East street, for several days.

A party consisting of William Duthie, Mrs. Christina McTavish, Mrs. William Alexander and William Watt returned from Pigeon pond yesterday, where they have been encamped during the past two weeks.

Miss Margaret Chalmers of upper Washington street, who has been confined to the house during the past week, was able to resume her duties as bookkeeper at the F. H. Rogers store this morning.

Fred W. Burnham, formerly a teacher in Goddard seminary and last year principal of a school at Wickford, R. I., is visiting friends in Barre and vicinity before going to Cornwall-on-the-Hudson, N. Y., where he will be an instructor in the Stone school, having Latin and history classes.

Armandi Comoli has returned from an extended business trip through the Middle West, covering a period of about two months. Mr. Comoli visited Pittsburgh, Pa., Chicago, Ill., and Cleveland, O. At the last-named place he attended the national granite meeting. Mr. Comoli reports a very successful trip.

Ira Houston of Maple avenue left this morning for White River Junction, where he will get the auto-racer which has been in a White River Junction garage since the week of the state fair for repairs on damaged parts which were necessitated when the steering gear was wrong at Hartford, while Messrs. Houston and Bell were on their way to the fair.

Friends of Miss Madine Edwards, who spends her summer vacations with friends and relatives in Barre, will be glad to learn she entered Skidmore School of Arts at Saratoga Springs, N. Y., this week. Miss Edwards, who was graduated from the Lacombe high school last spring, is contemplating taking the two years' course in the domestic science department in the school.

John J. Walsh of Quincy, Mass., and John Michael of Philadelphia, Pa., arrived in the city last night and will spend several days in Barre in the interests of the Ballard Tool Works. This is Mr. Michael's first trip through Vermont, and he is traveling with Mr. Walsh in order to get a line on the granite plants throughout New England. Mr. Michael reports a favorable opinion of the Vermont plans in comparison of the other granite plants in which he has visited on other tours of information.

Surprise was expressed in many circles about town to-day when it became known that R. D. Carpenter, second assistant engineer, had resigned as a regular fireman, after having been connected with the department for several years. Mr. Carpenter's efficiency as a fire fighter had been proven many times and as one of the older members in point of department and the upkeep of the equipment went beyond the bounds required by the rules applying to regular firemen. Two promotions which he received while in the service were generally recognized as being highly merited. His resignation takes effect this evening at 6 o'clock. Mr. Carpenter has not completed his plans for the future, although it is understood that he is considering an offer from the Vermont Tel. & Tel. Co. This morning Forrest Lyons, who has been employed as a substitute, although assigned to regular duty, severed his connection with the department, having resigned last night. Mr. Lyons returned this afternoon to his home in Lancaster, N. H.

Poultry men in Barre and vicinity who are associated with the Vermont Poultry association are beginning to make plans for the annual exhibit, which will be held late in December or during the first days of the new year. In all probability the show will be held in Barre, as sentiment among a majority of the members seems to favor this city as the place for the yearly exhibit. The show was staged in Barre last year and the proceeds represented a tidy profit, as against a loss sustained when the exhibit was held elsewhere. Schism among poultry breeders resulted last year when it became known that Barre was the first choice of many association members and another association was formed in Montpelier. Whether or not a second show will be held in Washington county remains to be seen. A number of the most active members of the Vermont association reside in Montpelier.

For thumping an interloper at a River street christening Sunday afternoon, Louis Lavin, arrested by Officer John S. Murley this morning on a complaint made to Grand Juror William Wishart, was fined $5 and costs of $8.05 in Magistrate H. W. Scott's court. According to the grand juror's information, Lavin resented the appearance of a Canio at the ceremony and made it evident to the unbidden guest by throwing him through a door. The arraignment was on a breach of the peace charge.

Mrs. Elvira Rhoades, formerly of Barre but now of Bridgewater, Mass., is making an extended visit with friends in the city. Mrs. Rhoades will be remembered as the wife of Rev. J. Frank Rhoades, pastor of the Universalist church about 30 years ago. Mr. Rhoades died some years ago and Mrs. Rhoades has been living with a son in Bridgewater. This makes the second time that Mrs. Rhoades has visited friends in Barre since she lived here. Her work is well remembered by the older members of the church, as she did a great deal to help the young people in their church work and gave them many socials while in Barre.

Accommodations at Hotel Barre were taxed to capacity again yesterday and last night and lodgings for late comers had to be booked outside the hostelry. TALK OF THE TOWN

This afternoon at sunset Hebrews of the orthodox faith throughout the world begin their observance of the Jewish new year, which continues until sundown to-morrow. Although the year now closing in the Hebrew calendar is known as an embolismic year with 385 days, the year 5677, which begins to-night will be an ordinary, common year of 354 days. Hebrews in Barre join with worshippers of their faith elsewhere in the strict observance of the day, although the opportunities for marking the event are somewhat limited owing to the absence of a rabbi. Several believers yearly go to Burlington for the new year observance, as there is a synagogue in the Queen city with the services of a rabbi at hand. The day of atonement, Yom Kippur, one of the most hallowed days in the religion of Judaism, begins Oct. 7.

Funeral services for Rinaldo Sironi, the seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Adolfo Sironi of 45 Granite street, whose death early Sunday morning followed a long illness, were held at the house Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. MONTPELIER

Police Called to Cliff Street to Release Team Imprisoned by Landowner.

Officer P. J. McAvoy was called early this morning to Cliff street, which has been the scene of several years of a bitter land quarrel between neighbors, Thomas McMahon and Mrs. Gallagher. The latter has strenuously objected on numerous occasions to persons crossing her land when visiting the McMahon house, but the houses are so situated that it is practically impossible for a vehicle to approach the McMahon house without trespassing on what Mrs. Gallagher asserts is her property. This morning one of the teams of the American Express company carried a package to the McMahon house and was not allowed to turn around by Mrs. Gallagher until Officer McAvoy made his appearance in response to an urgent call for assistance. Mrs. Gallagher retired when the officer hove in sight.

Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock Judge Harland B. Howe of St. Johnsbury will open a session of United States court in the federal building at Montpelier for naturalization purposes. All persons who applied for their final citizenship papers at the session held in June are eligible to appear for examination. All who are admitted at the coming session will be allowed to vote in the approaching presidential election.

Miss Marion Richards left last evening for Lebanon, N. H., where she will make a visit with relatives.

Miss Katherine McAvoy left to-day for New York City, where she will visit relatives.

W. J. O'Brien and O. L. Willis, an officer and hospital apprentice, respectively, in the United States navy, arrived in the city this afternoon and distributed literature in hopes of securing enlistments. Applications may be made to the recruiting agents at the Montpelier house until to-morrow forenoon, when they leave for Burlington. Applicants will undergo a preliminary examination in this city and then accompany the naval men to Burlington, their next stopping place.

Nearly a hundred tickets were sold at the local Central Vermont station this forenoon to the Northfield fair, to be held the middle day. A score or more of local people left on the early afternoon train for the fair grounds to witness the racing this afternoon.

A photograph of the 11th annual convention of the National Retail Monument Dealers' association may be seen in the B. W. Hooker display window. The picture shows granite manufacturers from all over the country, but there are not as many representing any one city as there are from Barre.

Goddard seminary's football team is still improving with the addition of new material every night. Monday night the candidates out for practice numbered about 25, while the number out last night was the largest that has been out in the past two seasons, the chasers of the platoon numbering about 35. The men who have been on the first team last week are showing a good deal of improvement and with the practice during the rest of the week, they ought to be in first-class condition to meet Middlebury seconds next Saturday. Lavoie, the big fullback on the team, is showing the most speed of any of the backfield men to date, as he hits the line hard and is showing good work in circling the ends.

In the line Soules, who is playing at center, is making good progress in blocking the line plays around the center of the line.

After the session, Alderman Rossi voiced the complaint of a constituent who complained of the unnecessary harsh methods employed by George W. Mann in evicting a tenant. According to the member from the fifth ward, Mann used methods that the most aggravating circumstances did not warrant and that, as a matter of fact, he said, the tenant in question had his rent paid to the date of eviction and was at utter loss to account for the landlord's strange conduct. Members of the board seemed to feel that conduct of the kind described by Alderman Rossi merited an investigation and it was intimated that the authorities will be asked to prosecute if the investigation bears out the contention of Alderman Rossi and his constituent.

A Distinctive Reason

What is the chief reason for the superiority of Royal Baking Powder?

There are several good reasons, but there is one which distinguishes Royal from other baking powders.

This reason, which every woman should know, is that Royal Baking Powder is made from cream of tartar, which comes from grapes. This means a healthful fruit origin. It means natural food as distinguished from mineral substitutes used in other baking powders.

There is no alum nor phosphate in Royal Baking Powder.
